Public Transport
We are keen to promote the use of public transport in an effort to reduce pollution, and to play our part in reducing traffic congestion in the Snowdonia National Park. If you travel to the Plas for one of our courses by public transport you will receive a £5 gift voucher.

Travelling by Train:
The main access to Plas by public transport would be to travel by train to Llandudno Junction and then take the Conwy Valley Line to Blaenau Ffestiniog. From Blaenau Ffestiniog you have three options - either take the Narrow Gauge Ffestiniog Railway to Plas Halt and then take a 10 minute woodland walk downhill to Plas Tan y Bwlch; this would be suitable for those who travel light and use a rucksack. Another option would be to take the Bus Service from Blaenau Ffestiniog to the Oakeley Arms, from where it is only a 5 minute walk up the east drive to Plas, or you could take a taxi (5 miles from Blaenau to the Plas).

You can also travel by train from Shrewsbury Station on the Cambrian Line to the village of Minffordd and then take the Ffestiniog Narrow Gauge Railway to Plas Halt or come off the Cambrian Line at the village of Penrhyndeudraeth and take the bus to the Oakeley Arms which is only a 4 mile bus ride.

If none of these options are available and we have staff on duty we could meet you at the Blaenau Ffestiniog or Penrhyndeudraeth railway station in the Centre's minibus.

Travelling by Coach:
For those travelling from South Wales, the Traws-Cambria 701 stops at the Oakeley Arms. National Express operate two services to Porthmadog. Bus number 390 from Manchester and Liverpool, and number 545 from Birmingham and London.

Travelling in a Car:
Plas Tan y Bwlch is situated one mile west of Maentwrog, just off the A487 road to Porthmadog. The main drive starts opposite the Oakeley Arms Hotel. (See map).
